Violence against women in war

Handbook for professionals working with traumatised women

Mabuse-Verlag 2005, 357 S., CD included, 19,90 Euro, ISBN 3-938304-26-X

This handbook represents the first comprehensive, multidisciplinary overview of the subject of »war-related sexualised violence and trauma«.

The practice-oriented part of the book contains a wide range of recommendations for dealing with the consequences of sexualised violence and trauma for professional helpers working in the areas of gynaecology, psychosocial work and therapy, legal counselling and court practice as well as in the field of development or humanitarian aid.

»The handbook was written mainly for professionals who work with traumatised women. But it also makes good reading for anyone who does not want to see sexualised violence go unpunished, but wants to see victims helped. The book should be made required reading for all experts involved in planning and implementing post-war rehabilitation.«

medica mondiale is an international women's organisation that has been supporting traumatised women in regions of war and conflict for more than 10 years with multidisciplinary services and training programmes.
